Service Description

Provides emergency crisis accommodation off the Peninsula for young single people. For young families (under 25 years of age) there is the opportunity to be assessed via referral from the Crisis Centre only for the Transitional Support and Case Management program. There are a number of youth only transitional properties for young families. Information, referral and advocacy to other services including; family violence, drug & alcohol services, legal organisations, financial & budgeting services, employment & training providers, counselling agencies, general housing and Office of Housing information. Note: There is only one crisis accommodation facility on the Mornington Peninsula run by Fusion for young single people and places are limited. Crisis Referral Information Service (CRIS) 1800 627 727

Specific Exclusions

We do not house singles in these properties because they all have two bedrooms and to house singles means under utilisation of the property.

Point Of Intake

Case managed young clients are often successful in acquiring private rental and this agency organises brokerage for PRAP funding, rent in advance, application for bond and ongoing case managed support to ensure the tenancy is securely established. Additionally for those young people that are severely disadvantaged we submit Office of Housing applications but the wait time for a property is still far too long (up to ten years or more) unless the young person identifies a country area where the waiting lists move more quickly.
